

How to add a new power station module in Guardian of Light

This power plant is very similar to a fully G5 engineered power plant that can not be engineered. Generating roughly 30% more power with 15% more mass and 20% more heat than an ...

To gather the blueprints you will need to complete a small mini-game which involves shooting power orbs on a collection of pylons within a small time window. Once complete you will need to grab a ...

Elite Dangerous Guardian Module Tutorial For New Players 2025 Learn how to acquire the guardian module blueprints in Elite Dangerous to unlock the FSD Booster, Shield, Module, and Hull...

Guardian Tech Components drop from the circled spots on the map above, and generally take a few passes through to get all the ones you will need for the FSD Booster, so come prepared with either a ...

The Guardian Hybrid Power Plant is a Power Plant that has been modified with Guardian technology. Compared to a power plant of the same rating and class, a Guardian Hybrid Power Plant generates ...

You will need to conduct many scans in order to get the data required for the weapons and power plant. This means that you have to logout to the main menu, log back in and do another scan, ...

This guide aims to introduce what each Guardian Module does, what situation they're best for, including their priority (usefulness), and what materials are required to unlock them.

Guardian modules are hybrid modules created from a combination of human and guardian technology. They can be unlocked at a guardian tech broker, after which they will be ...

And just like the Guardian Power Plant, you are required to supply the Guardian Technology Broker with all the necessarily materials to unlock the module permanently.

Finding modules for a new ship in Colonia is like going on a scavenger hunt - one module in the size you want is available only at this station in this system here, another module is only ...

Finding modules for a new ship in Colonia is like going on a scavenger hunt - one module in the size you want is available only at this station in this system here, ...

How to add a new power station module in Guardian of Light

Web: <https://csc-energia.com.pl>